Our Organisation

Our vision is Nature loved by all and thriving, because we see people and nature being fundamentally dependent on each other.

Nature Foundation is a South Australian charity passionate about nature conservation. We work with and inspire others to Save, Protect and Restore areas of exceptional biodiversity value, threatened species and sites of natural, cultural and geological significance. Established in 1981 by visionary members of the community, Nature Foundation has helped protect more than 11,500 square kilometres of the state so far, both terrestrial and wetland, and is now one of the largest non-government conservation land managers in South Australia and third largest in Australia.

Nature Foundation is a member-based organisation supported and advanced by a dedicated group of members, volunteers, staff and benefactors - underpinned by science. It highly values reaching and working in partnership with volunteers and local communities, community organisations, business and the three levels of government.

Its science program, in collaboration with South Australia's three universities, has to date granted more than $1.6million to support 390 students and community projects advance the study of and careers in nature conservation.

Many of these partnerships are developed on the Nature Foundation's Nature Reserves. The two main Reserves – Witchelina in the Far North of SA, and Hiltaba at the western end of the Gawler Ranges – also offer unique opportunities for Nature Foundation members and other visitors to experience the beauty of, and fascination for the natural world that lies at the core of our work.

Nature Foundation's Water For Nature Program delivers water to large and small River Murray wetland and floodplain sites to sustain and bring wetland environments back to life, contributing to the health of the system as a whole from the border to the sea.
