

AUSTRALIAN SEA LION RESEARCH FUND

Research is an expensive activity, but must be undertaken if we are to ensure a future for this species. By donating to the Australian Sea Lion Research Fund, you will personally be assisting in providing the ongoing research that will help ensure, for the enjoyment of future generations, the proper management and survival of the Australian sea lion.

Contributions to the Nature Foundation's Australian Sea Lion Research Fund will go directly towards research projects, providing funds for field researchers and much-needed equipment to study movements between colonies, feeding and diving behaviour and breeding success.
